Home Enrichment Activities:

- After freezing a bottle of water, let your child feel the coldness of the frozen water. Then set it out on a counter and let the ice inside the bottle melt back into water. Talk about how the cold air caused the water to freeze and the warmer air caused it to melt.
- Gather up some newspaper and ball it up into "snowballs". Then have some "snowball toss fun" with your child!
- Make "snowflake" decorations with your child, by gluing popsicle sticks together & gluing on glitter.
- Talk about snowflakes with your child. Each one has six points and is unique. Just as God makes no two snowflakes the same, so are we, created by God, especially unique!

God Bless!
